

Chamae's note from Quercus had a hidden message reading "you are in danger and we want to help, stay safe"

High Lady Dawn is considering renouncing her faith bc the prophecy seems to be coming true and her sister is High Lady Dusk who seems to have been a part of the kidnappings

When passing through the cult fire door cleansing ritual thing we could feel a warm divine presence come near and a different, cooler one protected us from it

Pianists (Lara) brother Laurence Vane overheard they found artefact for world cleansing fire
Taking it to hidden amber sanctum
Destabilising Ilithi and assassinating lord Titus for the sake of cleansing the world

Map has some

Possibly lying cultist says:
4 heads divide cult until 4 groups

Velnars voice? Roots reach deep. Seek the embers cradle between ash and stone

Octopus ideas:
Mask of water breathing works in reverse

Rune of create water and rune of destroy water on a container

Gilbert mum not in vineyard it's a trap
Phizziqinkle is going to be sent our bodies, and works with Farquad for plot in the capital
Phizzy isn't The Man
He's thinking "I tell no secrets, just lies"

Chamae identifies the sleep poison from the ball in the coffee at the Purple Tulip inn

Shiverwatcher the Majestic white young dragon only in her 50s
Vineyard paperwork signed by Halric Dain

Merinth Tharos is The Man, the trusted shieldmaiden of the High Lady of Rulith who dresses as a man and goes by The Man when drinking, Chamae has done a Commission for her before. She's also Lord Farquad's sister he hates.

When the transport circles are used the Emberheart grows more awake, which may

The Burning Dawn is the day the Emberheart rises in the prophecy, raised touched by the flames will be spared by the burning

Crystal orb is living flame Flameheart Orb can be used to communicate and track other orbs including them finding ours

Head Emberheart cult

Lord Ferrox high priest on the religious side (note, same for Quvard)

The Man head of the spy and logistics side

Third unknown person who also works in the shadows, just called The Flamekeeper, the same who told Bilbo to poison us. Flamekeeper without "The" is a more common role in the cult. They also want us sacrificed to the Emberheart like the kids souls

High Leader Tais Greenway is protected by necklace, they tried to steal to kill her and her kid bc she's Fey (so he is as well) and that can somehow bring the Feywild to this world and they can kill more fey to some benefit?

Oracles at Ashenhold bc its built on the vault where the First Flame Flickered and that's why they

THERES A CHANCE TO RECOVER THE KIDS MINDS BC THEY HAVE BEEN COLLECTED BUT NOT YET SACRIFICED

About 75 soldiers on average at Ashenhold

Peace Summit is specifically about killing the concept of peace start war among all the countries, they want to empower the Emberheart with mass bloodshed

Vlad leads the 12 Paladins but only 7 walk openly at 1 time, the others infiltrate

Ashenhold node still hidden

Burnt city node was accidentally undone by us

Verdant Pyre node currently being dealt with

Once all 3 are gone the Sunken Sanctum will probably open

WE ARE ALL DIVINE TOUCHED AND THAT MAKES US GOOD SACRIFICES AND CAUSED OUR BACKSTORIES

Chamaes amnesia

Gilbert has multiple parents??

Jorvik will never find his barbarian bride

Fiona rage

Max's Shape-shifting and future visions?!

Cyrena has a past with druids and hill giants?

Apparently kids noticed by the gods get a blessing or take on a trait of the God in question such as causing chaos, and are said to be destined to go on many great adventures

Turns out the Gilbert-mum who said NO to cutting him in half washing real mum and wanted to day more but couldn't

Her name is Juliana

Other sealed gods from Velathen civilisation who's ruins we've been investigating I.e. inventors of the transport circle

Velenar is the one who talked to us in the dream and seemed to be following Gilbert in some way and Pat Winona on the head when she noticed

The Emberheart religion was revived during the war amidst the cultural divide between worshippers of the old Rulif religion with the pantheon and the Eternal Vine religion rooted in nature that the Alithi believe from their own continent.

IN CITY

People missing

Need permit to sell alcohol, tavern district Niconbury is best

Blue sash paladins suspiciously seen in warehouse district

Saltdock master ask about missing children? Separately is good for smuggling objects? Doesn't smuggle people...unless they're willingly paying in order to escape

Riva local herbalist in flower district Ivy Hall Flower Markets in Yoneberg, talks in riddles, might be able to tell us lost myths and legends

Part of the original peace treaty there's a temple to Velenar protected in its own mini district Corat

Amphitheatre in Sunmore has Flame graffiti

Phorigg military district where prisoners go lots of recruitment atm don't go poking about, the sash colours probably mean this is where

3 magic item shops

Bright and new probably attracts new adventurers: Abracadaba Amusements

More run down and probably has rarer items: Bottles and Broom

Nondescript one: Wonders

50 silver small treasure chest sized lead lined box

100 gold words of warding

100 per inscription but 250 for bundle

Uncommon ring 100 gold

Immovable rod 400

Rare rings between 7-800

Wonderous items 60-200 gold

The cult is trying to rob the ancient sealed books on the transport circles and Madra is paying

100 g per person to help her get there first

These books can apparently transport people if the spine is tickled

Explained price 30g per person

Ember flame, Root, Flower in bloom, Circle symbols on cabinet, need ritual to open - burn flower without destroying roots, place in circle of ash and say the name of the Emberflower

Remind Ashley: the flower meanings of Reeva's double speak in the language of flowers

In the White Swan meeting with Shivaun and heard the bard playing a strange song and when talked with Gilbert took damage from trying to steal his lute. Then his mum seduced the bard and we need to follow up on that. Winona was told by an old lady that the last time she heard that song was the Ashen Uprising, sung by her dumb uncle so she wasn't sure if there were lyric changes bc her uncle was a bad bard

The artisans talked about stuff about their home countries so Chamae knows about some random history stuff like the Ashen Uprising. Pepero brought some blacked out files with him and that's how Chamae knew that the trigger song had lines from a very old song called the Ballad of the Burning Crown

To the north, to the fire, from below Vath'iran runes in ancient runes in ancient courtyard transport circle

Qavrud's land was formed by a now-dormant volcano, according to the crab summoned on a nat 1 consequence

Chamae has an eye on the canapé boy who noticed we were up to something with the evil priest. He talked to a priestess who went over to where I changed a rune and I sent Utah and Gilbert to stop her.

Max has heard the priest and 2 paladins talk about eliminating us in the hedge maze, time to turn it on them?

The summit plan is to poison the people except the leaders so they're suspicious, they think the shadows will eat their hearts, then they do and their souls are sacrificed

Farquad has circle under his house that teleports to Jarvid's "house" aka "communal houseing" aka secret barracks bc the main city inns are too obvious but it's where much scheming happens and WE NEED TO FIND

Jarvid thinks he'll be promoted to "Head of Ember Hand" oath bound and flame marked aka the elite group of paladins. The other paladins with him is who he's training to be his replacement

Note: Lord Ferrox also saw what happened and went an assistant to interfere with the sigil after the priestess was distracted while Canapé Kid did the same from the other side, I think at least Max noticed that but Chamae did not, but did notice that someone from the leaders table started beelining for that place and sent a message to Lady Dawn to warn her before the circle lit up and everyone evacuated. Also note, that assistant Ferrox sent looked like The Man for some reason until she was unconscious, disguise self maybe? But why?

We outright erased some sigils as the circle was lighting up, and it seems like the one I changed to be water instead of fire didn't get fixed bc a single water elemental with 200 hp came through - it was enough of a threat that the paladins focused on fighting it before us, but their reactions show it clearly wasn't what they had planned and was probably also a lot weaker than intended as well as being the wrong element?

Shiny notices magic everywhere in the west wing and gets the vague sense it's evocation/divination magic, with a sense of protectiveness, alertness. They cannot make it past a non-physical barrier.

We have perfect guard uniform disguises, including an oversized over somehow fitting Lifty

The wine was poisoned with Midnight Tears, where everyone falls into an irreversible sleep at midnight

Halric Dane owned the vineyard we raided and found the wine was poisoned, he's the advisor to lord Titus and wants to take his place

Taius said Madra was a misguided youth. She heard stuff about time being nonlinear and the cult is using these thefts of time to fast forward a break, eroding the spell trapping the Ember Heart. That might also be why they wanted to merge the Feywilds bc time there is looser

Summit table is about 7/8 of a circle of the runes. Linked to transporting somewhere out west with a new style circle. Doesn't look like it'll do anything else.

Can't find runes under the stage. A person can comfortably fit on their stomach. About 30 stones with runes for protection and teleportation formed out of veins of other stone e.g. marble veins. Have taken 1 each with me.

Cyrena won the sibling spat and Gil sulks, but Manny stayed comforting her after she was forgotten about again

There's a Hollow pillar in the ballroom with a dumb waiter elevator thing that can only be opened from outside and has space for either a person or a trolley that would be label with food for secure delivery into the room. Notably, this could fit the missing part of the table's circle. Also noteworthy the anti magic field goes all the way down to the bottom of the elevator shaft, where you can start to cast magic again.

High Lady Dawn has Revivified 1 person before and while she doesn't truly regret it she didn't anticipate the consequences properly and is reluctant to do it again even aside from being the High Lady of Funerals

Chamae and Max started smoking weed, it got vaporised by a nat 1 fireball, and while high as hell Chamae started using her wings. She will not remember if it was real or not once she comes down but if she can be convinced it was real she can later be convinced to try while sober.

Its been decided that Chamae has a hard to interpret process of getting in and out of Lifty, and the inside is organised chaos that makes it hard for small things to be found by someone else.

The Qavardian god Virelya is NOT the one who Touched Gilbert, but has a vested interest in (only) him bc his father is their Vessel, i.e. almost certainly the spiritual leader of Qavard, Ferroxx. Notably they are NOT interested in Cyrena out of pure misogyny.

Religion explanation: Gods are so affected by the beliefs that bc the majority of opinions about them come from worshippers who see distinctly different interpretations, there are separate gods, but also not entirely bc there are those within each religion who see the others evidence of godly intervention as another way to interpret their own gods actions, so the line between them is blurry and further complicated by Velenar being a multi-faceted deity.

Scholar talks:

Thinks Manny is Vathyr'n bc of changing the courtyard circle is unheard of, but not many study them

Scared of Madra

It's very uncommon for time to be stolen but theres occasional instances of a matter of minutes and hours, and premature greying and stuff

Madra seems to be dipping into the stolen time thats being used as a pool of immortality, seemingly confirming Jimson's theory

Vathyr'n civilisation was rumoured to have been destroyed by seelie Fae bc the circles were threatening the integrity of the Weave

Jimson's rival Ivan Blivan said that if a token is degraded it will spit a traveller in the wrong time, making it theoretically possible for someone from the past to appear at any moment - could that be what happened to Chamae?!

Rulif Green

Tayan Orange

Alithi Yellow - we have sashes from being Titus's bodyguards

Quvard Blue - we have full guard disguises with sashes and pins for the Paladins

Cyrena is at a column closest to the table, Max at the dum-waiter one, Winona with Chamae at the opposite one since the third columns are closest to the table

Theorising:

There's at least 1 other party trying to sabotage the summit, possibly the start of a second

Ashen Uprising people's revolution

Is the Nat 1 consequence table related to each god? There's 18 in total and 20 consequences, but 1 of them is that the gods are mad at you and another is to just reroll, so thats all of the gods and none of them?

Table set-up: Rulif, Velenar (with Dawn and Dusk) Tayan, Alithi, Eternal Vine, Qavrud

Lori wants peace

Titus is investigating the Water Elemental.

Votrin is trying to sell mercenaries as extra protection. Also the children going missing is a known thing and he referenced it?

Ferrox is short but made himself taller and promptly said things one should never say at a Peace Summit, like that the attack is a sign of weak leadership and only those faithful to Virelya can do things right and its the true path for everyone, as well as a lot of ash and flame and ember imagery as if it was code words yo signal his allegiance to those in the know.

Sister Vaela (Gilberts ex classmate) reacts to this, but she's in the Qavrud contingent, so why was this a surprise to her?

Dawn was firm about the future blooming not burning but then Dusk said that fire sometimes burns homes and sometimes lights the way and we must keep balance. Dawn is impassive but Ferrox's eye twitched with surprise at the difference in emphasis between Dawn and Dusk

The Eternal Vine guy seems in favour of prosperity coming after hardship specifically in the soil made fertile by ash. He then brings out wine as a peace gesture and we convince them to let us test it just out the door with an aid from every delegation watching us

Lori tried to bring up the attack and Votrin tried to sell Tayan's investigators.
Ferrox shit stirred some more

Ferrox is behaving weird and on a 28 I realised this isn't Ferrox at all!!! ITS THE FUCKING EMBERHEART POSSESSING HIM!!!!

Though notably Ashley mmhmed when I brought up that Virelya saying they are known by many names seems to imply that the Emberheart is not one of them and thus not a god at all

Titus is genuinely investigating the Octopi bc it was a water elemental, we need to get a warning to them before Uta'h gets his god killed from being too evangelical

Everyone is stressing and looking for someone easy to blame, so we took the chance to frame it as not any specific person here's fault by tweaking the truth:

We found the circle with the wizard's help and he can verify in needed, people at least disguised as Paladins (which Titus seems to take as the truth) and that we didn't have the chance to tell anyone until now bc we spent all of yesterday evening trying to hunt down one of the 'Paladins' who escaped, though Winona also made sure to mention that we had some time to investigate but were very busy, so if anyone recognises us as the ones who looked around this room yesterday they wont be suspicious.

'Ferrox' and Dusk have a slight reaction when we get unanimously voted to investigate on everyone's behalf as independant third parties.

Voltrin (for free) says that scholars guild say the Vathyrin religion has an upcoming convergence called the Hour of Flame that may have something to do with the Ashen Uprising but doesn't know when.

Maybe we can spin bringing Jimson and his fellow scholars to collaborate with the scholars guild to investigate more on the Vathyrin and this convergence before going to Ashenhold

I brought up the idea of Reducing the table but planned to then catapult it to ruin the plot more permanantly, but then it just kind of git taken as me shrinking it even though i cant catapult it and as it is i will lose concentration if I get hit so either I undo that final move of the game and instead do something else or I hope that wasnt a waste and someone else can pretend to accidentally break it before I lose concentration. Don't forget Shield and Silvery Barbs to try and keep it up if the latter

Titus is newly Egged bc of Winona and we are considering

Kadric (Ferrox's brother) greets people at the only port

One man one woman wearing drab clothing for the Tayan city speaking of devotion and revelry to be found if you start a new in Qavrud and she was between jobs.

Clan of Tortles searching for Pepero at Qavrud when Veela was arriving 2 years ago

Votrin says theres a suspicious lack of the Merinth-Relis raids near the Ashenhold
The Ashen Hourglass is a time trap thats a reservoir of the stolen time from the transport circles, rumoured that being smashed would release all that time in one go and end existence by fast forwarding through it in one go. This and the Flamelord and the Hour of Flame is all from texts found in ruins near the Tayan port that goes to Qavrud

Ferrox's eyes have gone from gold to forest green

Ferrox was the deputy to Samuel Macmannis before rising to power 7 years ago or so when Sam was sacrificed for a good harvest after years of droughts. Their usual revelry rituals weren't working and Samuel chose to burn himself alive and it worked. There was a time of mourning and discussions of sucessor before Ferrox took over, and the guards present claim as honestly as they can that he's had gold eyes as long as they've worked for him which is as long as he's been in power

Tower card from deck of many things, any 20 is a 1 until next long rest

Kadric was sacrificed alongside Samuel (about 6 months later) in the burning ritual and yet was seen by Veela in the port. His eyes apparently constantly switched between green and gold according to her but Ferrox's says he and his brother always had green eyes. He found the book with the ritual that he said he was told by Virelya to use to cleanse the land to deal with the drought and bad harvests. The book was in Vathyrin.

Burning Samuel didn't bring the rains, it was only when Kadric suggested himself (in place of Ferrox as the next in command, saying Virelya told him Ferrox was needed to lead the country). The rains came (with some lightening) and the plants and animals thrived very quickly as if the problems with the land was 'reset' I.e. it might have been time manipulation that made the ritual look like it worked.